

Trend: "Graduate Retention" is not easy to define. Higher education enrollment is driven by State, national, and international recruitment rather than by local labor market needs. The number of graduates and the skills they graduate with may not necessarily match the needs of Tallahassee's labor market. Each academic year, 12,000-13,000 graduates complete degrees at FSU and FAMU. Graduate retention is consistently around 15%, with 11-12% full-time employed in Leon County by the next Fall after graduation. The 12% of graduates found full-time employed in Leon County the following year is about the same as the proportion of incoming university students from Leon County. This 12% retention equilibrium for Leon County generates continuous renewal of the local workforce and is consistent with the tempo of growth in the local labor force and employment.
