

Trend: The overall level of residential building permits for new construction authorized in the Tallahassee MSA is increasing since the precipitous decline during the 2007-2009 recession. During the 1990s, there were an average of 2,198 housing units authorized by permits each year. The annual average increased in the 2000s to 2,518 per year, including the 3,918 units authorized in the peak year of 2005. The annual average in the 2010s was 1,338, or 53% of the average during the 2000s and 61% of the annual average of the 1990s. The average so far in the 2020s is 2,639, nearly double the annual average of the 2010s.
